Halo 4: a sudden twist

Cheif ran across the hardlight bridge to Didact, he needed to be stopped, but Didact used his abilities to overpower >the tank with legs, almost killing him as he dangled over a sheer drop into nothing

"now you face true pain, as i did" Didact pronounced "but i will let you watch everything you have ever loved perish"

Didact made John face earth, watching as the machine of Earths demise prepared to fire, As Didact dorced John >to watch this, John struggled to get free "when i get my hands on you!" John said, the spartan struggled harder his attempts were effortless

"why do you deny the fate you will all suffer?" Diadact said, his lips formed a "smile"

"because we will always win against you" John retaliated, groaning in pain

"we? you really dont know do you" Didact said, shaking his head "have you really forgot your roots, brother?"

"we are not brothers" John said

"take off that man-made armor and watch as your true armor calls for you" Didact said with certainty

then Johns armor started falling off, bit by bit, until he was just in the skin-tight spandex suit

"now, listen as your true form becomes you"

John was forced back onto the Hardlight bridge as whispers filled his head, he knew the language, but he couldnt translate

Didact nodded as John walked away, the whispers ever louder in his mind, he came across the power core for the weapon

John held his head as the whispers became screams his face had turned like Didacts, armor zooming to attatch to him in less then five minutes it happened

Cheif was gone

only a monster left

John looked at his body, what was once green armor had formed into only glowing red armour

"how does it feel, brother?" Didact asked, a pleased tone in his voice

"it feels...better, stronger" John looked up "lets kill them"

Didact laughed "i thought you'd never say that!"

they both walked up to the weapon this was the end of everything the weapon fired, shattering Earth into millions of pieces

Didact smiled at John

"now, we rule this Galaxy"
